Trial or Bail By Oct. 30
For Manning Strewl Is Order of Judge Foster

Supreme Court Justice Holds Strewl
Is Entitled to a Speedy Trial or Freedom in Bail—Says Strewl's
Reputation Is Bad.

Manning J. Strewl, under indictment in Albany county in connection with the kidnapping of Lieut. John J. O'Connell, Jr., last July, will be brought to trial on or before October 30 or will be released on bail in the sum of $25,000 under an order signed Monday afternoon by Judge Foster who is holding the October trial term of Supreme court in this county.

Application for bail was made by Daniel Prior, attorney for Strewl at the opening of court Monday morning and at that time Judge Foster stated that he would fix a time for the trial and would also designate bail. Unless Strewl was brought to trial by the specified date he said the order would provide for release under bail. Judge Foster's contention was that a man who is detained in jail has a right to a speedy trial or release from custody under bail. Strewl has been in jail since August 5 without bail and several attempts to have bail fixed have been denied. Mr. Prior contends that on prior applications dates for trial had been set by the district attorney of Albany county but that when those dates came the case was put off. District Attorney Delaney of Albany appeared and opposed the application for bail.

Judge Foster took papers in the case and reserved decision in the matter, making the announcement from the bench that he would set a date for trial and also fix bail which would become effective if Strewl was not put on trial on or before the date set by the court. The prosecution sought to have counsel for defendant agree to November 13 as the date for trial, but Mr. Prior declined to do so, saying that twice before dates had been agreed upon only to pass without any action being taken.

Monday afternoon during a recess of the court here Judge Foster made known his decision in the matter. He set October 30 as the date upon which trial must begin and fixed bail in the sum of $25,000 to become effective should the trial not go on at the time set in the order.

Judge Foster's memorandum in the matter follows:

"The defendant's character and reputation are bad. He has twice been convicted of crimes against the United States and sentenced to terms of imprisonment in the United States Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. Any court would be justified in denying bail, in its discretion, for the crime charged in view of the defendant's record if it appears that a speedy trial may be had."

"He is, however, either entitled to a speedy trial or to have bail fixed in a reasonable amount. To hold otherwise would be a complete deprivation of his rights under the Constitution. I hold, therefore, that the defendant may be admitted to bail unless the trial of the indictment against him is moved by the district attorney of Albany county on or before October 30, 1933; otherwise, the application is denied. The amount of bail is fixed at the sum of $25,000."

TAMMANY WONDERS ABOUT
AL SMITH'S ATTITUDE

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Tammany Hall, fighting the most potent threat to its power in years, will open its formal mayoral campaign tonight with its strategists groping for an answer to the all important question:

"Will Al Smith come to the rescue of the organization?"

Tammany had no word as to whether former Governor Smith would appear tonight at the opening rally for Mayor John P. O'Brien at "the hall." Some of Smith's intimates were of the opinion that he would not appear.

The campaign of Tammany's two foes, Fusion and the Recovery party, continued to get up steam today. Parading to Queens amid streams of red fire last night, Fiorello H. La Guardia, Fusion nominee, accused the city government of bilking small home owners to hand tax cuts to big property owners.

Joseph V. McKee, Recovery party candidate, again denied La Guardia's charge of anti-Semitism. He said an article he wrote in 1915, while a school teacher, did not criticize the ethical outlook of Jewish school children, but criticized "only those who abandoned Judaism." He denounced La Guardia for injecting the issue into the campaign.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—The position of the treasury on October 14 was: Receipts, $1,659,527.04; expenditures, $1,133,556,228.36; customs receipts for the month, $14,349,474.32. Receipts for the fiscal year since July 1 were $847,222,242.02; expenditures, $1,108,801,291.08, including $324,300,822.05 for emergency relief. Excess of expenditures $271,573,048.05.

Germany's Status In Relation To League Now She Has Resigned

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY.

Geneva, Oct. 17 (AP)—Powerful parts bind Germany in an iron grip despite her expressed intention to resign from both the League of Nations and the world disarmament conference.

Even should she carry out her plans, she still would be bound by the treaty of Versailles and the Locarno pact.

Too, she would be amenable to the provisions of the League covenant for two years, just as is Japan, a previous seeder.

But Germany, by the double withdrawal—automatically risks no sanctions or penalties whatsoever.

Germany is free to withdraw from the League, but under article one of the covenant she can quit even after two years' notice only if she has fulfilled all international and covenant obligations.

If German troops should invade a demilitarized zone on the east bank of the Rhine, Germany under the Versailles treaty could be haled before the League council.

Then, should the council decide by a majority vote that the act constituted aggression, the French army could be moved over the Rhine without thereby committing the act of war.

By the Locarno pact, Germany and Belgium and also Germany and France mutually undertake not to invade or attack one another or resort to war.

Mutiny Menaces Dollfuss Government

Vienna, Oct. 17.—The official government gazette, "Weiner Zeitung," today front-paged an intimation that a declaration of martial law was expected soon.

Banner-lining "restoration of the death penalty," the paper indirectly approached the subject of martial law by pointing out that "there is an overwhelming popular demand for the restoration of the death penalty."

This demand, it was added, is convincing the government that something should be done, but "inasmuch as capital punishment has been constitutionally abolished from the criminal code, there is only one way left—declaration of martial law."

Such a declaration automatically would carry with it the war-time penalty of death for murder, treason and related offenses.

The gazette also carried a communiqué which described briefly the conspiracy uncovered at Linz yesterday, in which authorities said Nazi officers and former officers planned to seize arms, uniforms and equipment at the Linz garrison for use in "further action."

As a result of the uncovering of the plot, political police today were in the midst of a widespread investigation in all garrisons and branches of the army.

Although the secret instructions of the Socialist party for preparations for a general strike were not carried in any Vienna paper, they were banner-lined in the "Prager Tagblatt" which arrived this morning from Czechoslovakia.

Also from Czechoslovakia arrived an official communiqué that Foreign Minister Benes was departing from Geneva for Vienna for a conference with Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

Peacemakers Claim Victory in Strikes

(By the Associated Press)

Peacemakers between capital and labor claimed several victories today and turned their attention to other points of friction in the industrial machine.

Striking steel workers at Weirton, W. Va., hailed a settlement announced yesterday by the National Labor Board. Chairman Robert F. Wagner said the workers would return at once.

NRA headquarters in New York announced settlement of four strikes involving 2,000 bakers, teamsters, market porters and shoe workers.

Violence flamed in scattered strike areas yesterday. Some high spots follow:

Los Angeles—Pickets and workers clashed in a garment strike.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Dynamite damaged homes of two miners.

Brockton, Mass.—Heavy police details guarded W. L. Douglas Shoe Company.

San Joaquin Valley, Cal.—12,000 cotton pickers still remained away from fields.

Paterson, N. J.—Meeting of striking workers broke up in disorder when Miss Ann Burak, left wing leader, took rostrum.

Among other strikes still going on were: Coal Miners in Indiana, Silk or Rayon Workers in Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New Jersey; Garment Workers in Quincy, Ill.; Sardine Fishermen at Monterey, Calif.

Road to World Peace Is Up to Europe Now, Says Davis at Meet

Alleges Loss of Two Senses After Being Hit By Automobile

United States Not Politically Aligned With any European Powers, Says Davis—Contends Disarmament Is Now Question for Europe.

Geneva, Oct. 17 (AP)—The search for the road to world peace through disarmament spread from Geneva to what he remembered about the accident at Pine Bush crossing on February 21, 1932, when he was struck by a car owned by William J. Lunney and driven by Mr. Lunney's brother.

Mr. Johnson said he was employed by the Erie Railroad as a brakeman and had been directed by the conductor of the train to flag the crossing during switching operations on the day in question.

Peter A. Johnson took the witness stand this morning and testified as to what he remembered about the accident at Pine Bush crossing on February 21, 1932, when he was struck by a car owned by William J. Lunney and driven by Mr. Lunney's brother.

With the disarmament conference in recess until October 26, representatives hurried homeward to devise new plans to meet the emergency created by Germany's withdrawal.

Many believed the government of Adolf Hitler might be drawn back into the discussions.

Others expressed the conviction it would be necessary to take a unified stand without her.

As foreign offices in all capitals buzzed with these possibilities today, there was comment, too, on the statement of Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador at large.

Defining the position of the American delegation, Davis frankly said: "We again make it clear that we in no way are politically aligned with any European powers. Such unity of purposes as existed has been entirely on world disarmament matters."

"Whether or not," he added, "conditions are favorable to continue the present disarmament effort is now a question for Europe and not the United States to decide."

In the week's consultations "between the capitals of Europe," Davis said, the United States would take no active part.

But the American's move for temporary release from the conversations could not dull the glowing terms with which appreciation of his delegation's efforts were expressed.

Had it not been for Davis, some of the delegates recalled, permanent adjournment might have been voted instead of the "breather" finally decided upon.

Then, the new opportunity of bringing Germany back in or of formulating plans for a convention from consideration of which Reich representatives of course would be barred, should not have presented itself.

On cross examination he said he desired to change his testimony to bring Germany back in or of formulating plans for a convention from consideration of which Reich representatives of course would be barred, should not have presented itself.

The conductor of the train testified that he had given instructions to the brakeman to protect the crossing and had then gone to the station to register his train. When he came out he walked to the freight house and saw a car standing by the railroad and saw Mr. Johnson lying on the tracks he said at the crossing was about 24 feet instead of twelve as he had previously testified to. These measurements he said he had made and after looking at his notes at home he desired to change his testimony.

Johnson is claiming a permanent loss of the sense of smell and taste. This he said he discovered a week after the accident when his food did not taste right. Later he said he had discovered he had lost all sense of taste. This was discovered when he was drinking water from a jug one day after he had returned to work. The members of the train crew had stopped at a creamery for milk and he took a drink of water from a jug which stood by a well. There was oil in the water but he did not discover it until after he had been drinking. He failed to taste the oil.

The case was continued during the afternoon session.

INVESTIGATE SLAYING OF FOUR BRAZILIANS

Santo Tome, Argentina, Oct. 17 (AP)—Government representatives of both Argentina and Brazil today were investigating the slaying of four Brazilians here.

Shot when an Argentine border patrol fired on a launch crossing the Uruguay river from Brazil, the dead include:

Ari Vargas, nephew of President Vargas of Brazil; Abdon Motta, cousin of President Vargas' wife, and the owner of the launch, named Rosenbeck, and his pilot.

The guards said they opened fire in the belief the launch bore a group they believed to be seeking the release of persons held in the kidnapping of Colonel Huan Garcia Cunha, Brazilian political refugee.

Argentina's government authorities expressed profound regret to Brazil through the ambassador at Buenos Aires.

BARROW CHARGED WITH PASSING BAD CHECK

Morris Barrow, 48, of New York City, former manager of Greenhill Lodge and at one time of Barrow Farms, Napanoch, had a hearing before Justice Walter Webber at Lake Katrine Monday on one of the charges which have been preferred against him of passing bad checks. The complainant was Richard Adin, Kingston milk dealer, who charged that Barrow had given him a check for $78 on which he had been unable to collect. The judge found the defendant guilty as charged and fined him $10 and sentenced him to 10 days in the county jail. Barrow paid the fine and was brought to the jail and booked, but later appealed to Supreme Court Justice Sidney Foster, who released him in custody of his attorney, Philip Slutsky.

The banker slowly stroked his chin with his right hand as the counsel read documents asserting the money would be paid to discharge in some measure the obligation of the bank.

The resolution also said that in return, Wiggin would always be available to supply advice to the bank officers.

John Knapp Arraigned.

John Knapp, 63, who gave his residence as the County Farm, New Paltz, was committed to the county jail Monday to await the action of the grand jury. He was arraigned before Justice I. C. Barnes of New Paltz, charged with a crime against nature.

Members of Exchange Listed for Subpoenas

Pecora Promises to Compel Their Appearance With Records Necessary to Answer Questions About Stock Practices.

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—Every member of the New York Stock Exchange—1,375 in all—today was listed for subpoena before the senate banking committee.

Pecora, candidate for mayor on the Republican ticket, in the following open letter to the voters of Kingston, briefly outlined the course he will follow and the principles that will guide him in the event that he is chosen to direct the affairs of the city:

To the Voters of the City of Kingston:

I have been nominated for the Republican Party for the office of Mayor. I was born in Kingston and since my majority I have been engaged in the drug business in this city.

I have endeavored to attend strictly to my business and feel that I have a fair record as conducting a successful business. I have also spent some time in civic matters, particularly in connection with the Fire Department. By reason of my close attention to business I, perhaps, have not made the acquaintance of as many of the voters of Kingston as some others may have done, particularly those who have been more actively engaged in political affairs, therefore I am taking this means of addressing myself to the voters of Kingston.

If I am elected I shall make every effort to conduct the affairs of the city on a strict business basis, and obtain, as far as in me lies, a dollar's worth of service or material for every dollar expended.

The mayor of the City of Kingston in the next two-year term, will have the appointment of the following members of the city boards: Two on the Fire Board, two on Board of Public Works, two on Board of Charities Board, two on Water Board, four on the Board of Health, two on the Plumbing Board, two on Police Board and four on Board of Education.

Such procedure was viewed as prolonging the investigation endlessly. In addition there was a large expense item involved: Each subpoenaed witness receives $3 for every day's attendance plus railroad fare.

But those who knew Pecora had no doubt he would press his plan, announced when the governing board of the stock exchange ruled members would not be submitted a questionnaire prepared by Pecora.

Camp No. 2 Work Progressing Rapidly

Shokan, Oct. 14.—Construction work at Camp No. 2, C. C. C., has progressed with amazing speed during the week, and the carpentering on the several buildings so far advanced that barring unforeseen circumstances, the winter quarters will be ready for occupancy a week from today. Friday, three of the large barracks were up and enclosed, except for the windows and doors, as were also the storehouse and administration building, while two other barracks, the laundry and the infirmary, were in process of construction. As many as 72 carpenters and laborers, most of whom are from Olive and Shokan, are employed on the job. What with the fine weather, plenty of placed and graded lumber, and other factors conducive to efficient workmanship, the buildings have been put up according to specifications in record time. The men are paid a good daily wage and much money will go into circulation throughout the section between Kingston and the Delaware county line as a result of the federal government's decision to put the camp at Boiceville "under wood."

Supervisor Clarence Voss of Shokan, who is assisting Major George W. Easterday in the construction of the new buildings, like the major, has had considerable experience in the "old army game," having been a member of the 1st Engineers in the World War. Major Easterday and Mr. Voss within a short space of time put into operation a well oiled machine of skilled carpenters that has quite eclipsed anything in that since Ashokan reservoir construction days. The men are way ahead of their schedule and by Tuesday night every unit should be standing on posts and ready for the finishing touches. With the arrival of asphalt roofing, windows and the electric heaters, the building program will enter its final stage and occupancy of the quarters and other shelters will follow with a minimum of delay. The plumbing work will be done by Conway Brothers of Phoenixia. Water pipes will be laid 3 1/2 feet under ground to insure against freezing. The siding of the building is placed vertically and the cracks battened with strips of planed pine one inch thick by three inches wide.

About the Folks.

First Lt. Sydney F. Freilich, the army medical research department officer who was assigned to Camp No. 2 from the 27th Evacuation Hospital earlier in the month, has succeeded Dr. Quinn of Phoenixia as camp physician and will have his headquarters in the new infirmary building soon to be ready for occupancy. Col. W. B. McClaskey, commander of the Third conservation corps district, made an official inspection of Camp No. 2 and the 215th Company at 7:30 a. m. Friday. It was the colonel's last inspection trip to Boiceville as he has been made commander of the Second district and was scheduled to begin his duties as such on October 15. John H. O'Dell and J. M. Muir, foremen of foresters, are now engaged in conservation department work at Deposit. Forester Vergne O'Dell, assigned to inspection duty out of the Albany office, is stationed at Boiceville for a week. Mr. O'Dell and family removed to Albany from Olive last month, following the forester's transfer from the camp here. Corporal Martin Kunert, mess sergeant, is spending a four days' tour in New York city.

The lads of the permanent kitchen detail staged some snappy vaudeville stuff at Earl Dean's Red Barn dance in Ashokan last Tuesday night. A three-piece orchestra—violin, drum and piano—was made up of Tony Carpinio, East Kingston; Ted Gunderson, Blue Mountain, and John Malon of Palentown. Everything in the music line, be it classical or excerpt from Wallace Beery's film masterpiece, "The Bowery," is pie for these old Maestros. Gunderson impersonated Paderewski with a fetchingly sang froid, while Carpinio, Don Juan of the K. P.'s, offered some nifty tap dancing in the absence of his understudy, the well known Pat Rooney. "Shorty" Mancuso, fly-weight boxing ace and orderly to the commanding officer, was most impressive in his role of director, whilst shape again, the basketball, boxing, roller ball and other games will again be taken up.

New Water Supply.

Plans have been made for securing a plentiful supply of good drinking water from the spring of John and Mansfield McKelvey, whose farmhouse adjoins Camp No. 2 on the south. A new spring has been dug out near their barn for the McKelveys, who heretofore have watered their live stock from the reliable old spring across the state road and near the houses. Tanks will be installed in the latter supply and the water pumped to the camp grounds by an electrically powered engine similar to the one now in use at the pump house on the east bank of the Esopus Creek. The use of Esopus water probably will be continued for laundry purposes. Water for drinking purposes has been hauled several miles from Lester Davis' spring on the west side of the reservoir at a considerable expenditure of time, money and labor, most of which will be obviated under the proposed new system. The McKelvey spring is one of the best in this part of the county and its acquisition by the camp officials for the same being offers still further evidence that your Uncle Sam will have nothing but the best of everything for his woodsmen.

A slight revision in the building plans calls for a one-room office building at the southeast corner of the camp grounds for Ralph Cranner, conservation corps superintendent. The building will occupy the site of the tent now used by Mr. Cranner as his headquarters. Between this unit and the mess shack a garage will be erected for housing the six large trucks used in connection with field work. . . . William Gademian, proprietor of the canteen, has fitted up his place with a coal stove and this popular gathering place is now all ready for cold weather. A call has been issued for volunteers to set the tables in the mess tents for all meals excepting those of Saturday's supper and Sunday. Men attached to this detail are exempted from week-end fire duties. One of the bulletins posted at the camp is an order by W. F. Pearson, adjutant general at Governor's Island, calling attention to the large number of casualties resulting from conservation corps men riding trains in going on furloughs, the list is a long one. One of these varied projects is the dam, 20 feet high, 120 feet from base to base, and with a crest 40 feet in width, which is being constructed by Co. 183 at Hampton, Conn. The dam will take more than two years to build, and when completed will make Buttonball Park one of the most beautiful in the Nutmeg State. . . . Co. 229, Idaho Springs, Colo., has just completed a trail 8,600 feet long extending from Echo Lake to Chicago Reservoir. The trail opens to the public some fine fishing grounds which have been inaccessible in the past. It skirts high cliffs and affords superb views of the Continental Divide.

Forest Fire Et Cetera.

Although a number of outifts have hung up a commendable record for fire fighting during the first "hitch," some sort of an asbestos medal at least should go to the boys of Co. 2428 of Slidell, La., who during the first weeks of September answered 16 fires and put in a total of 1,600 hours at this hot business. Hundreds of thousands of acres of timber and young woods have been spared as a result of the peevies' efficiency at fire fighting in various sections of the country. . . . Old King Winter is already beginning to give the boys a tussle, as witness the conditions at Leavenworth, Wash., where a five inch snowfall loaded many of the trees so heavily that they toppled over, requiring special details to clear the roads for traffic. . . . Out in the Modoc National Forest, Calif., a U. S. Forest Service engineer, assisted by a C. C. C. detail, is engaged in making a map of the 150 caves, many of them of immense size, which have been discovered and explored in that sector. Daily new caves are being discovered and water is found in caves where none was suspected to exist. (What those fellows can't think of for a guy to do, eh?).

Recently, a road crew from the Murderer's Creek Camp (What a sweet, cosy-sounding monicker that is!) at John Day, Oregon, found 40 sets of deer horns in one place. The deer had apparently died within a small basin, where a large number of horse bones also were found. Apparently a heavy snow had at some time driven the animals to this basin, where they were trapped and perished. . . . A former soldier who participated in the battle of Cantigny (Somme), in the first purely American offensive of the World War, was the first man to gain acceptance in the second contingent of the veterans' C. C. C. in New York city. He was Daniel Kern, a former private in the 64th Co. Army Transportation Corps. One of the oldest men accepted this month is Richard J. Dressler, of Lindenhurst, N. J., who had over 22 years' service in the regular army. Dressler, who is 64, was a sergeant in recruiting service on the Bowery for 11 years.

HONEST ELECTIONS.

A writer in the Chicago News has a plan for preventing election frauds. Because the plan would be useful anywhere, it might be studied by many citizens far from Chicago. Among the twelve points of the plan are these:

Widespread public interest and cooperation in enforcement of the election laws.

Simplification of the ballot.

Divorce of the election machine from politics.

Larger appropriations for election law purposes.

Use of fraud-proof voting machines, centralized counting or some other form of insurance against fraud.

Prompt determination of contests and recounts.

Prompt and stringent punishment of the perpetrators of frauds.

Cooperation of lawyers engaged in such contests.

Consistent fixation and assessment of costs of contests.

Early agreement on election reform laws for submission to the state legislature.

The most important of these items is the first. Without widespread public interest and cooperation in honest elections and efficient government, those most desirable ends could not be achieved by laws or voting machines or prescribed punishment.

TWO-SIDED TECHNICALITIES.

A bright citizen who has just come into contact with the criminal courts for the first time, as foreman of a grand jury, makes an interesting discovery and, being an advertising man by profession, promptly broadcasts it. "It occurred to me," he says, "after I had heard a speech by the United States attorney in New York, that crooks always took advantage of the law's technicalities. Then I thought, 'Why can't the law take advantage of technicalities, too?'"

Sur enough, it should work both ways. If prosecutors were as ingenious and persistent in using legal resources to punish criminals as the defense lawyers are to save their clients from punishment, and if the courts allowed technical privileges, reservations and exemptions equally to both sides, there would be far more crooks in jail and fewer recruits coming along to take their places.

It is impossible, perhaps, in our American judicial system, to keep the scales of justice evenly balanced between the state and its enemies. A prisoner is presumed innocent until he is proved guilty, we require unanimity or an overwhelming majority of the jury to convict him, and judge, jury and public agree that it is better to let several guilty men escape than punish one innocent man. But we have leaned over backward too far in trying to be fair with a class of criminals and defense lawyers that take unfair advantages. It is time to fight the Devil with fire.

OCEANS OF WHISKEY.

Recent lamentations regarding a whiskey drought are discounted by Washington officials. Aside from the fact that Europe and Canada are prepared to rush to the rescue, it develops that this country itself possesses an adequate supply. Or at least the makings of one.

Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, sheds light on the problem of supplying what is expected to be an unprecedented American thirst when the bars are let down—or set up. There is a bottled-in-bond supply of 4,000,000 gallons, which isn't much in view of the impending demand. But Dr. Doran blandly explains that it can be "cut" ten times to produce 40,000,000 gallons of liquor that could be called "good pre-war stuff." From which one might set a notion that possibly memory is deceptive about the quality of that pre-war stuff. Moreover, the two-year-old stocks, which critical drinkers would consider too raw for immediate use, could be "rectified" to produce 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 gallons more. And several million gallons more "aged" will be coming soon.

It may be a happy prospect for some. More sober, though, would be spared by paying more attention to quality than to quantity of both medicinal and beverage liquor.

Evidence accumulates that the business relapse in September, if there was one, has been exaggerated. Retail trade is about as great an index of business activity as any.

The experts expected a slump of 25,000 cars for the month. The figures now available show an actual increase of 5,000 cars. That is just about as good as the best month of 1932, and 40,000 cars more than the same month of 1932. There are various other indices which likewise refute the pessimism of the last few weeks. What has occurred is merely a slowing up of the amazing recovery rate of last July. We are not moving backward; we are still going ahead. And the rate of improvement may be expected to accelerate again with the normal seasonal improvement the rest of this year.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 17.—Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening.

The candy committee for the Reformed Church fair would appreciate materials for making candy before Thursday. Materials may be left at the home of Mrs. Floyd Ellsworth.

Charles Watson of Middletown, N. Y., called on his sister, Mrs. Chauncy Freer, Sunday evening.

Little Betty Schweigert is ill, at her home on Bayard street.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school house Friday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. H. Windram. At the close of the business session, Mrs. Windram introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Professor Edgar D. Lewis, who gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the "Philosophy of Education." Mr. Lewis's talk was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by those present and at the close a rising vote of thanks was given him. Several new members were present Friday and it is hoped that many more will be present at the next meeting.

Members of the congregation of the Reformed Church are requested to donate packages for the children's mystery booth for their coming fair. Packages may be left with the chairman, Miss Dorothea Grover, or at the Sunday school room the day of the fair. Articles for the fancy article booth may be left at the home of Mrs. Frank White or Mrs. William Yessie.

The following program will be given at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, the first night of the Methodist Church fair: instrumental trio, Nedmesse Fowler, Zimmerman and Ellsworth; drums, Master Earle Terwilliger; pantomime, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie"; solo, Master Earle Terwilliger; pantomime, "Home Sweet Home"; solo, Miss Ethel Schlecht. Members of the Ladies' Aid Society will tell how they earned their dollar. A turkey supper will be served from 5:30 until all are served.

Fishing for Lost Anchors

One of the strangest industries that has grown up around large harbors in various parts of the world, is that of fishing for lost anchors. So valuable are these anchors that ships often mark the place where they lose them on their charts, and engage salvage companies to recover them. It is not at all uncommon for a ship to lose an anchor, owing to the enormous strain upon it and the chain. While modern science has eliminated most of the hazards of the sea, vessels must still brave to when mountainous waves and howling winds put too great a strain on the hull for continued headway. There is then only one thing left for a vessel to do—drop its heavy anchors. Despite all modern devices for ship's safety, the anchor is still the emergency brake.

Cornelius L. Van Orden of New Paltz elected president of Ulster County Bankers' Association at meeting held here.

Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, sheds light on the problem of supplying what is expected to be an unprecedented American thirst when the bars are let down—or set up. ## Talks to parents

Roots

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Hundreds and thousands of dollars have been spent by Americans looking for their ancestors.

They have made pilgrimages to small spots here and there in England hoping to find some old deeds which will throw light on their origins. But for many of them the search has been fruitless, and they have come home no wiser than they set out, so carefully did the pioneers of America cut off their roots at the base.

There comes a time in every man's life or in the life of every family when they want to know something about their beginnings. Not to have this desire would be the trying to grow up with no knowledge or memory of one's childhood.

America has never ceased to be a pioneer country, invaded every day by men and women from other lands, who plan to settle and bring up their families in this new home.

Perhaps—indeed inevitably—the parents remember their former environment and background, but in their eagerness to make their children a part of the new world they have entered, or because their former conditions were unhappy or sad, they try to forget them, and as far as possible to cut off their children from their origins.

The children, eager to be like their playmates, and naturally afraid of ridicule, are quite willing to be allowed to forget, and sometimes even try to exclude their foreign-born parents from their lives.

And so in a few generations, unless human nature changes with amazing rapidity and thoroughness, there will be another band of pilgrims seeking fruitlessly for their origins, and wishing that their fathers had passed down some tradition for their guidance.

"HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD"

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter:

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing had any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eye King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonsfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Business Girls Present Play

The feature on the program of the Business Girls' Club at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening will be the presentation of a one-act play, "How Sally Got a Husband." This play is of special interest, having been written by Mrs. Nan Eddie DeWitt, a former Kingston girl and member of the Business Girls' Club, in a play contest where it was awarded first place.

Miss Helen Bradburn is acting as coach and the cast is as follows:

Sally . . . . . Miss Janet Phillips

Rocky . . . . . Miss Frieda Nibergall

Jim . . . . . Miss Ruth Bell

Alex . . . . . Miss Lillian Coffin Lasher

Mrs. Moore . . . . . Miss Jess Goodsell

The usual club supper will be served at 6 o'clock for which reservation should be made by Tuesday evening.

The play will be given at 6:45 p. m. and those not attending the supper are urged to come in for the program.

Young women interested in the lumbering and tapading are asked to meet with Miss Riccobono at 7:15 when plans for the class will be arranged. Miss Herdman will also meet those interested in the jewelry-making class. The song group will have a short rehearsal with Miss Eva Rand.

VICKS ADVERTISED MORE AND DEFIED DEPRESSION

In accordance with its policy for nearly 30 years, the Vick Chemical Company announces that newspapers will receive most of the heavy advertising this season for Vicks Vapo-Rub, Vicks Nose and Throat Drops, Vicks Medicated Cough Drops and Vicks Voratone Antiseptic. Vicks advertising and expansion program for this season is one of the largest in the company's history—a continuation of past policies.

During the past four years Vicks has increased its advertising 150 per cent. It has increased the number of its employees 72 per cent and maintained salaries at the high 1929 levels. Throughout this period other companies were curtailing their advertising or eliminating it entirely, discharging millions of employees and slashing salaries.

Vicks has continued the aggressive merchandising that has always characterized its sales policies. In these four years—probably the most disastrous economically that America has ever known—sales of Vick products have increased from 26,000,000 packages in 1929 to more than 52,000,000 packages this year.

Having operated throughout its history under policies similar to those embodied in the National Industrial Recovery Act, the Vick Company naturally gave its whole-hearted support to the NRA program as soon as it was announced. Vicks "signed up" with NRA without reservation in spirit as well as in fact, President L. Richardson declared.

A California co-operative fruit exchange to date has utilized 500,000 tons of surplus and unmarketable lemons in the manufacture of citric acid and other by-products.

V shaped inserts trim the skirt portions. The skirt is cut with straight lines, and has fullness at a low placed plait in front. The sleeve is a comfortable bell shaped style, fitted above the elbow.

Designed in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 38 will require 2 1/2 yards of 54 inch material.

CAT—OCT 17 . . . 2 Miss. er 2 o. . . One day when the late President Calvin Coolidge was returning from a trout stream after several fruitless hours spent with shiny bamboo rods, silk line and a generous assortment of patented bait, he observed a small boy crouching behind a tree. He sent one of the Secret Service men to see who it was.

When the shy youngster was brought before the Chief Executive of the nation it was noticeable that he leaned sharp to one side under the weight of a very large string of fish.

The President—What you got?

The Lad—Fish.

The President—Where'd you get them?

The Lad—Caught them in the stream.

The President—Why can't I catch them? I've been fishing all afternoon, and I haven't caught a thing.

The Lad—Maybe it's because I used a whole worm.

And the moral of this little story is: When you're fishing for business with advertising—USE A WHOLE WORM.

Departing Guest—You've got a very pretty place here, Frank, but it looks a little bare yet.

Bored Host—Oh, it's only because the trees are a little young. I hope they'll have grown to a good size before you come again.

"Man often forgets the present," sagely observes a historian. "Yep," says a local man. "especially on birthday and wedding anniversaries."

One of the Mayo brothers of Rochester, Minn., was recently called hastily to Chicago to operate on the son of an old friend and patient. It was a midnight operation and thus it happened that it was early morning when he returned to his hotel. As the famous doctor passed through the deserted lobby a scrubwoman looked up from her task and asked:

Scrubwoman—Are you the famous Dr. Mayo?

Dr. Mayo—I am. Why do you ask?

Scrubwoman—I guess you'll get a pretty fat wad of dough for operating on that Smith boy, won't you?

Dr. Mayo—I suppose so, but maybe I won't charge a cent; the boy's father is an old friend of mine.

Scrubwoman—Friend or no friend, you'll get paid for it and when you get it, maybe you won't be forgettin' that it was my Pat who threw the brick that got you the job.

Mistress (to new maid)—I hope, Mary, you won't copy the things I wear.

Mary, the Maid—Oh, no, I should say not, ma'am. I likes my things stylish.

An historian announces gallantly that he has discovered that women used cosmetics in the Middle Ages. Pshaw, that's nothing new. Women still use cosmetics in the middle ages.

A Local Man—Which would you rather be? A millionaire or a cholera patient?

Another Local Man—What a stupid question. A millionaire, of course.

A Local Man—You are very stupid. All millionaires die, but statistics say, only 80 per cent of cholera patients die.

The only spark of intelligence some men have ever shown was the sense they displayed in picking wives who could put the lid on their foolishness.

Mistress (engaging maid)—Can I expect to find you up at 5 o'clock in the morning?

Maid—Oh, no, ma'am. I ain't one for high life.

Why is it that people who long for the next world because it is devoid of work and worry, gets so sore every time the factory shuts down?

Lady—I am sending my daughter away to study music.

Neighbor—Well, now, that's very thoughtful of you.

"Hogs Soar" says a market page headline. Maybe AAA should use a winged pig for its symbol.

A puzzled friend, after reading all the pro and con stuff about "honest dollars," says it doesn't mean anything to him except that maybe the amount of sense in a dollar is as important as the number of cents.

The President's statement to the Legion might boil down to this—that it's important not to give any group of citizens, no matter how deserving, free access to the national treasury.

Intelligent cheerfulness is very rare.

GAS BUGGIES—Farewell.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Political observers in the capital eye with more than a casual interest the situation in Vermont, brought on by the death of Senator Porter J. Dan.

Vermont, like such states as New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona, has only one representative in the house. The "third senator" is what they called in Washington.

Now, apparently, it is to be Hopkins To The Front

ALL indications are that during the coming months a new personality will occupy the limelight in Washington. It's to be Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator.

He will be charged with the responsibility of taking care of the tenor and doings during the winter months. The administration already has marked that down as one of its biggest jobs. The success or failure of much of the recovery program centers around this point.

Every phase of the "new deal" thus far has had its personality. In the banking crisis it was Secretary Wood of the treasury. In the economic crisis it was young Lewis Douglas, director of the budget. In the NRA it is Hugh Johnson.

Now, apparently, it is to be Hopkins.

Avoiding Partnership

MY friends have their own arguments on the patronage question as well as senators and representatives.

Those close to the White House say that the President has a very definite desire to steer clear of purely partisan moves until the recovery program is in full swing and its results can be foretold.

Lester Felton, Ruby, again tops the list of 4-H Club members to receive the $25 in prizes from the Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Club in the 1933 pheasant raising contest. The winners in the contest with the number of pheasants raised and the prize to be awarded are as follows:

	No. of Pheasants	Prizes
Lester Felton, Ruby	28	$5
Jennie Beemer, Olive Bridgeman	25	$1
Julia Coopersmith, Flatbush	23	$1
Harold Felton, Ruby	23	$1
Colver Ten Brook, Jr., Lake Katrine	22	$2
Lillian Slater, Ulster Park	20	$1

Howard Hod, Saxton	12	$1
Leroy Davis, Riffton	12	$1
Jeanette Meredith, Wallkill	11	$1
Florence M. Meredith, Wallkill	11	$1

The cash awards will be made to the club members at the annual trap shoot of the Federated Sportsmen's Club of Ulster County on October 25, at the trap shooting grounds of the Kingston Gun Club, the announcement of Edward Huben, president of the Federation.

The 4-H Club members who raised from one to ten pheasants will receive honorable mention at the time of the trap shoot. These members are: Bruce Henderson, Accord; Arthur Cohen, Greenfield; Milton Tsitsera, Ulster Park; Ward Tice, Spring Glen; Jack LaFale, Highland; Agnes Cafaro, Ulster Park; Louis Finkhauer, Churchland; Earle Van Giesen, Flatbush; and Alice Eigner, Wallkill.

The State Conservation Department furnishes 45 pheasant eggs to each 4-H Club member whose application is approved by the County Club Agent. These eggs are hatched, and the pheasants raised to seven weeks of age, when the game protector or club agent visits the 4-H Club member and counts the birds. The pheasants are then liberated and the State Conservation Department pays the 4-H Club member 75 cents for each pheasant liberated.

During 1933, 20 of the 43 club members who received eggs raised 259 pheasants. These 20 members therefore earned $194.25. In addition to this the eleven who raised the largest number of pheasants will receive cash awards from the Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Clubs.

During the three years in which Ulster County 4-H Club members have cooperated with the State Conservation Department in raising pheasants a total of 1435 seven week old pheasants have been liberated in the county and club members have earned $1,078.50 plus $125 in prizes awarded by the Sportsmen's Clubs. Individual Club members with the highest earnings from pheasant raising are: Lester Felton, Ruby, with $71, and Wesley Smith, Churchland, with $70.

4-H Club members appreciate the interest shown by the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county and their active part in promoting the pheasant raising program.

Rose and Gorman Becomes of Age

Twenty-one Years Ago Present "Big Store" Was Started Here—Plan Sale in Celebration of Event.

This month the Rose & Gorman department store—Kingston's big store—becomes of age and the event will be celebrated in a big way, with a series of value giving sales. Thursday, October 19.

These sales will not only be a demonstration extraordinary in honor of the store having reached its majority, but will also prove one of the greatest incentives to the public to get in at the start of the NRA "Buy Now" campaign.

The sales will be particularly welcome at this time, coming as they do when prices all around have advanced. The very special values to be offered, beginning October 19, are made possible by a preparation on

CATARHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have "catarhal deafness" or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to McBride Drug Stores or your druggist and get a ounce of Parolot (ear drops), and add to it a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should be open, breathing becoming easy and the nostrils often dropping down into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one losing hearing or who has Catarhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Worship Mountains at Home
There have been cults of mountain worship in China for centuries, the pilgrim clubs connected with the mountains being of two kinds, "traveling" and "stationary," the former sending out representative delegates to a peak at stated intervals, the latter, also called the "Squatting and Fattening Society," for instead of making the actual pilgrimage, they limit activities to the worship of a paper mountain at home, with continual accompaniments on a liberal scale.

Seeks Damages for Injuries Claimed In Auto Accident

Peter A. Johnson of Ellenville claims injuries from Auto Mishap February 21, 1932, and seeks damages. Medical testimony was offered Monday afternoon in the negligence action on trial in supreme court before Judge Foster to show that Peter A. Johnson of Ellenville was severely injured when on February 21, 1932, he was struck by a car owned by William J. Lunney of this city. The car at the time was being driven by Mr. Lunney's brother. Mr. Johnson, who was employed as a brakeman on the Erie railroad was protecting a crossing at Pine Bush as one of his duties in connection with the operation of his train. He alleges that while protecting the railroad crossing he was struck by the Lunney car and severely injured.

Testimony was given by Dr. Coles of Ellenville in relation to the condition in which he found Mr. Johnson shortly after the accident. He said Mr. Johnson had been treated by a physician who had given first aid. When Dr. Coles first saw the plaintiff Johnson at that home near Ellenville, Johnson at that time was bandaged in several places and was suffering pain and was delirious at times. There were injuries about the face and body. Dr. Coles said the injury to the nose was a severe one but he had made no tests to determine whether Mr. Johnson had lost his sense of smell and taste as is claimed in the complaint. This doctor said he knew only from being told so by the plaintiff.

Dr. Coles testified that Mr. Johnson had some years prior had an operation on his kidneys. For a long period of time before the accident in February of 1932 that incision had healed although it had discharged for months after the operation. He was unable to give any accurate idea as to the exact time as he said he had treated Mr. Johnson on numerous occasions. However after the accident he said he found that the old incision had again started to drain and this condition he said now exists although he thought it might yield to treatment.

The matter of this special injury, not specifically named in the complaint, brought forth an objection from defendant's counsel. Mr. Cook who appears for defendant objected on the grounds that he had no knowledge of this claim for injury to the old incision made at the time of the previous operation. However he permitted the plaintiff to amend the complaint and plead this special injury on condition that the defendant be permitted to have a physician examine Mr. Johnson. The court permitted this and Dr. George Chandler made an examination of the plaintiff during a recess of the court.

Plaintiff alleges that since the accident in February of 1932 there has been a leakage of fluid from this old incision caused by the injury which he sustained.

LeRoy Lounsherry appears for plaintiff.

Ancient Babylon

The history of Babylon ends with the removal of the inhabitants to Seleucia in 235 B. C., although religious sacrifices were still performed there 100 years later. The walls and other defenses of the city were razed by Xerxes and have never been rebuilt. The city received its start about 3,000 B. C. when the Euphrates river changed its course and left Kish far inland, the people of Kish deserting it and building the new city of Babylon by the water. Sennacherib destroyed the city in 699 B. C., but King Nebopolassar and his son, Nebuchadnezzar, built the city whose ruins may now be seen. During the reigns of those two kings Babylon was the chief city of the world and capital of the Babylonian empire.—Pathfinder Magazine.

"Little Stories for Bedtime"

by Thornton W. Burgess

JERRY RESUMES WORK

A danger part is a danger part. So why not just forget it? Watch out instead for the one ahead, until you've safely met it.

FOR a couple of days Jerry Musk rat left his snug room in the bank only long enough to get a bite to eat, and he was gone only a little while then, for he had little appetite. The rest of the time he spent curled up in his bed of soft dry grass, occasionally licking the wounds made by the great cruel claws of Hooty the Owl. Luckily, you know, it is the very best treatment little people in fur can give their wounds. It keeps them clean, and

He Was Still Sore and Rather Stiff, wounds kept perfectly clean heal rapidly.

But while he lay there Jerry did a lot of thinking. Strange to say he didn't feel the hurt of the wounds in his body half as much as he did the hurt of the wound of his pride. "Serves me just right," he kept saying over and over. "Serves me just right, I'm too old to be caught napping like that. The idea of me living to be as old as I am and then being caught by Hooty the Owl! I hope no one saw it. I should be almost too mortified to live if my friends knew of this. I shall have to keep out of sight until my wounds heal. Then I shall have to think of some good excuse to explain the tears in my coat in case any of my neighbors notice them. I hope no one will. If any of them should know the truth they would think I have gone into my second childhood. They certainly would. It all comes of dreaming. Dreaming is at right in the right place, but it is all wrong in the wrong place. Well, what is part is part. It is all over now and I'm still alive. And I've still got that house to finish."

Two days later or, to be exact, two nights later, Jerry was back at his new house. He was still sore and rather stiff, but he didn't let that interfere with his work. No more, he didn't let that interfere with his work. Jerry found out a long time ago that the easiest way of forgetting troubles is by working. The busier you are, the less time there is for you to think about yourself. So Jerry went to work again with might and main, but he didn't forget to keep a sharp watch for danger.

The part of Jerry's house that he had to build now was the part which would be above water, and which every one who passed that way might see. Jerry was very particular about it. He was very particular for several reasons. The first reason was the best of all reasons—safety. Jerry proposed to spend much of his time in that new house during the winter. He would sleep there a good deal. Therefore it must be made as safe as possible. If the walls were frail and poorly made there were certain sharp claws which might tear them open in the dead of winter. This would never do, never in the wide, wide world. So Jerry was very particular about this part of his new house. He intended that this upper part should be just as good as the foundations on which he had spent so much time and labor. He fully intended to make this house the envy of all who saw it.

Spider as Webmaker Is Marvel for Measurement

Balkan States, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia

The Balkan states comprise Yugoslavia (the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes), Albania, Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania. Though Rumania is not geographically a part of the Balkan peninsula, it is politically a Balkan state.

The spider starts her geometrical web with perimeter lines connecting objects around a space large enough for her purpose, according to an observer in the National Geographic Magazine. From these lines she suspends a few threads which converge at the center of the future web. Now begins the process of spacing the radii.

She attaches the end of a new radius at the center and runs along a spoke already laid down, spinning the silk for the new one as she goes. When she reaches the perimeter line, she takes a fixed number of steps along it and attaches the new thread. This process is repeated until all the desired radii are in place.

If the foundation lines should chance to form a wheel rim accurately circular, the distances between spokes would be equal; but, since the perimeter is usually an irregular quadrangle and never circular, the spacing varied somewhat.

Godhead of the Earth

Geo is the godhead of the earth and every science based on its structure and mass relates thereto. Geodesy is the science of earth measurements, and it is this measurement which is the particular function of the Survey. But such nice measurements cannot be related solely to the earth. Astronomy must have a part. The Survey keeps in the field, when its appropriations allow, parties of surveyors who constantly check and recheck their measurements and carry out the triangulation on which the system is based. The entire country is covered by a network of these triangulations. In the Survey's offices at Washington, experts are incessantly going over the field notes and making their immense calculations which establish the shapes and levels, the magnitude and the figure of the earth.

Keener Opposition For Major Elevens This Week

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—A decision of just what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object will give both variations on a theme of football this week.

The forces of the major elevens, armed by a combination of practice and desire, are aligned. The big four start playing on each other.

Glittering individual players headed by Charlie Neale and Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Minnesota, Army and Illinois, are added to Carnegie Tech to whip Notre Dame into a program dominated by Pittsburgh this week.

Such important secondary schools as the Ramblers couldn't beat Howard and Harpster when he was playing a quarterback for the Tartans in the days of 1926-27 and the superstitutes might risk a gamble that the

it will hold good now that Harpster is head coach at his Alma Mater.

Notre Dame played Carnegie Tech twice in the three years Harpster was quarterback and took two sound beatings. Howard booted field goals from the 21 and 40-yard lines in 1926 when Carnegie won, 19-0, and scored a touchdown and kicked three extra points when the Tartans crushed the Ramblers, 27-7 in 1925.

His excellent field generalship likewise was credited with playing a large part in both victories.

Of course it will take more than a bunch to beat Notre Dame Saturday even though the Ramblers have been disappointing in their first two starts against Kansas and Indiana. But Harpster, in his first year as head coach at Carnegie, has built a sturdy line and developed a sensational passing attack that not long ago routed Pop Warner's Temple Owls, 25-6.

Fritz Crisler has done a remarkable job of restoring Princeton football to the point where the Tigers once more are genuinely feared. In little more than a year, Crisler has developed a team that some critics think is destined to ride rough-shod over all opposition. The material is there, without doubt, but it remains to be seen what Crisler's sophomore backfield flashes will do when the going gets tough.

On the basis of what they accomplished in Princeton's opening routs of Amherst and Williams, Garrett Evans, Paul Pauk, Homer Spofford, Pepper Constable and Sumner Rulon-Miller, all members of the great freshman outfit of 1932, look like football players any coach would be glad to have on his varsity.

Their first test comes Saturday when the Tigers run up against a veteran Columbia team led by the triple-threat quarterback, Captain Cliff Montgomery.

For the first time this season the south fails to lead in the number of teams it contributes to intersectional warfare. Virginia, already trounced by Ohio State and beaten, after a great fight, by Columbia, tackles Navy and Auburn's plainmen face George Washington University, in the only important intersectional games in which southern teams figure. On the other hand the east and the midwest will be rivals in four major contests: Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame, Pitt-Minnesota, Army-Illinois and Duquesne-Detroit.

Far West—Southern California, a distinct favorite for the Pacific coast title again, should dispose of Oregon State and California seems to have more power than Washington State. U. C. L. A. Stanford, Washington and Montana all face non-conference rivals, the latter tackling its traditional foe, Montana State of the Rocky Mountain conference.

Southwest—Texas A. and M. with better prospects than for several years, hopes to beat Texas Christian for the first time in four campaigns. Arkansas and Southern Methodist, conference leaders, play strong intersectional opponents in Louisiana State and Oklahoma A. and M., respectively. Texas, beaten by Nebraska and Oklahoma in succession, appears in for another tough afternoon against Centenary, unbeaten since 1931.

Rocky Mountain—Utah and Denver, the leaders, have an open date. Colorado University and Brigham Young will be favored over Colorado Aggies and Western State, respectively. Wyoming and Colorado Teachers play Friday.

The Floyd Rifles, Company C of the 121st Infantry of the Georgia national guard, at Macon, is 92 years old as an organization.

The great Carl Hubbell is a Missourian born, and now an Oklahoman by adoption, but it develops the southpaw ace first saw the light of day at Maple Grove, Mo., a hamlet about 14 miles northeast of Carthage, which is erroneously listed as the pitcher's birthplace in baseball records.

To help settle this vital matter for the benefit of all concerned, Fletcher Cupp of the sports desk of the Carthage Evening Press, wrote to Hubbell early this summer and received the following reply:

"I was born somewhere in the rural districts out near Maple Grove. I am sure Carthage was the closest railroad town but don't know whether that was our address or not." He added that his family moved to Meeker, Okla., his present residence, when he was three years old.

"We regret the fact that we cannot bask in the reflected glory," adds Mr. Cupp, "although we managed to make some pleasure out of the fact that Carthage was the nearest railroad town to Hubbell's birthplace. At any rate there are a number of Carthage people who were born and reared in Maple Grove and knew the Hubbell family, who are following Carl's career quite closely."

It may be because the world series has captured the popular fancies for the time being or it may be due to some widespread changes in college football policy, but so far this fall there has been less ballyhoo and blast for the campus gridiron heroes or near-heroes than in any season I recall for years.

This is not to say there is any diminution of activity by the college publicity men, that they are dexterous in dispatching the vital statistics, the

The great Carl Hubbell is a Missourian born, and now an Oklahoman by adoption, but it develops the southpaw ace first saw the light of day at Maple Grove, Mo., a hamlet about 14 miles northeast of Carthage, which is erroneously listed as the pitcher's birthplace in baseball records.

To help settle this vital matter for the benefit of all concerned, Fletcher Cupp of the sports desk of the Carthage Evening Press, wrote to Hubbell early this summer and received the following reply:

"I was born somewhere in the rural districts out near Maple Grove. I am sure Carthage was the closest railroad town but don't know whether that was our address or not." He added that his family moved to Meeker, Okla., his present residence, when he was three years old.

"We regret the fact that we cannot bask in the reflected glory," adds Mr. Cupp, "although we managed to make some pleasure out of the fact that Carthage was the nearest railroad town to Hubbell's birthplace. At any rate there are a number of Carthage people who were born and reared in Maple Grove and knew the Hubbell family, who are following Carl's career quite closely."

Ballyhoo On the Wane

It may be because the world series has captured the popular fancies for the time being or it may be due to some widespread changes in college football policy, but so far this fall there has been less ballyhoo and blast for the campus gridiron heroes or near-heroes than in any season I recall for years.

This is not to say there is any diminution of activity by the college publicity men, that they are dexterous in dispatching the vital statistics, the

Some Flies Live All Winter

Some houseflies live all winter. Unprotected they are probably killed. Those which have found shelter in some warm place continue to live actively. Some flies possibly exist in dormant condition in such protected places as behind pictures and loose wallpaper. Sluggish specimens behind books on bookshelves in December and January have been observed, and have been found in the same positions and still living a month later.

This is not to say there is any diminution of activity by the college publicity men, that they are dexterous in dispatching the vital statistics, the numbers in its ranks many shooters who never take the field during the gunning season.

Kingston Banker At Convention

New York, Oct. 16 (Special).—Charles H. de la Vergne, treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank, is in New York attending the 40th annual convention of the New York State Savings Banks Association which opened here this morning at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria. The Elenville Savings Bank is represented by A. V. Hoornbeck. About 500 delegates from 147 mutual savings banks throughout the state are present.

Henry R. Kinsey, president of the association, in the opening address declared that the depression "has proved beyond a shadow of a doubt" that the policy advocated by mutual banks of "saving for a rainy day" is fundamentally sound. He predicted further state and federal banking legislation and advocated vigorous opposition to any legislation "which will affect adversely the depositors' interests."

FARM POULTRY*EASY TO DISCOVER BABY CHICKS' SEX

Japanese System Is Seen as Great Saving.

Keen eyesight and nimble fingers may be as important to the poultry man as his knowledge of rations, in the future, should a system of sex determination now being introduced in Japan gain favor in America.

Mr. Yozo, Japanese scientist, started poultry experts recently at the International Baby Chick Association convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., by determining the sex of 100 one-day-old baby chicks in six and a half minutes without an error.

Skeptical poultry experts, after Yozo had completed his demonstration, opened the chicks and through post-mortem examinations checked up on the accuracy of the determinations.

Practical application of the Japanese system is seen in the savings that may be effected by destroying the male chicks, which eat as much as the female chicks, before their uselessness is exposed by development of mannikin characteristics. In the case of Leghorns, which are of little value as broilers, this is said to be an important item.

With the heavier breeds, the male chicks may be disposed of to broiler producing plants. Saving on brooding equipment is a third possible benefit.

Fast-Growing Chickens*Eat More Than Unthrifty

Thrifty, fast-growing chickens eat more than the unthrifty. Heavy layers eat more than poor layers. In neither case, however, is the difference in the quantities of feed consumed as great as the difference in the results obtained. Poor birds eat much more proportionately than good ones. The reason is because chicks that grow well and hens that lay well are birds which constitutionally are able to make full use of all feed taken into the system, while much of that eaten by those which are inferior in this respect passes through the system undigested.

The fundamental principle in modern poultry feeding is to feed so liberally that not a bird in the flock will ever be unable to get all the feed it wants. In doing this feed is kept before the flock practically all the time. In renewing supplies of the different kinds of feed at regular intervals, it is often noticed that the consumption from day to day or from week to week is variable. This is most noticeable with adult stock. It is apt to be overlooked in chickens because they constantly require larger amounts until fully grown. Because of this variability close weighings of feed consumed in short periods, when taken as the basis of computation for the full period of growth, or for laying hens for a year are seldom accurate.

Screens Under Roosts*Found Good Investment

Inventions that will prevent chickens from scratching in and walking over the droppings in the pen are coming into use and are proving popular because profitable. Dropping boards under roosts are regarded as a common menace wherever they exist. A poultryman who found this out to his sorrow describes how he protected his birds from this danger.

"We took 6-inch fencing boards and made a rectangle 5-by 12 feet (the size of the dropping board tables), nailing the boards so as to make a box 6 inches high. Over this we stretched 2-inch mesh poultry netting, drawing it tight, and then placed the roosts on top. When we wish to clean the dropping boards we need only prop up the whole roost section. No disease will be picked up from the night droppings. Manure will not be carried from dropping boards to nests nor will pellets be sitting on droppings instead of on roosts. This method is one that any farmer can employ and the expense is very low when compared with the benefits. This is worth keeping in mind when planning the winter poultry house."

Chicken Pox Protection

To protect from chicken pox remove all affected birds from the flock. Put them in a pen as far away from the main flock as possible. See that all stagnant water is taken away, as this breeds mosquitoes, and these pests transmit the chicken pox. The entire flock should then be vaccinated with pox vaccine by pulling five feathers from the leg of the bird and, with a small brush, applying the vaccine to the holes where the feathers were pulled.

Delaying Fall Molt

It is evident that the longer the fall molt on all of the birds can be delayed, the higher will be the average egg production. It is just as important, however, not to go to the other extreme and delay molt so late in the fall that the birds do not have time to get their new coat of feathers started before cold weather sets in. The normal rest period appears to be from two to three months. The early molt usually takes a much longer time to grow new feathers.

Cucumber Tree Hardest of the Magnolia Family

The cucumber tree is the hardest magnolia native to eastern North America. In appearance it suggests a tropical tree for its leaves and flowers are large. It is found from western New York to Illinois, Georgia and Arkansas.

A rich, moist woods, with abundant sunlight is its favorite home. Good wood, rapid growth, few foes are among its principal merits. It is a beautiful tree for lawns and parks. The leaves are simple, thin, egg-shaped, four to twelve inches long, pointed at apex, smooth along margin. They fall in response to first frost.

The flowers are large, upright, solitary, bell-shaped, about three inches long, greenish, tinged with yellow, difficult to see among foliage. The fruit is a red cucumber-like mass, two or three inches long, containing scarlet, pea-size seeds, suspended by long, slender white threads at maturity. The bark is grayish to brown, and breaks up into long furrows. The twigs are smooth, shiny, bitter, rather stout, brown, marked with crescent-shaped leaf-scars. The buds are conical, sharp-pointed, about one-half of an inch long, and pale silvery. The wood is soft, weak, brittle, and light yellowish to reddish-brown in color.

Tree of Heaven Ancient Product of Mystic East

The alianthus—Chinese sumach or tree of heaven—is a beautiful creature when it is loaded with seeds and stands like a blushing school girl, its feathered leaves suggesting the tropics and long dreams of Cathay. It is the tree on which the Chinese silkworm originally fed, notes a writer in the New York World-Telegram, and its substance has been transformed by those magic and sacrificing creatures into delicate fabrics that have wrapped the world in elegance and luxury.

The seeds—round dots in the center of oblong wings shaped like the propeller blades of a motor boat or airplane—held one of the secrets of flight wrapped up in their artistic shapes for told ages waiting for men to progress to the point of development where the problem of flying could be solved. The tree, like many weeds, has lived long with mankind; being an ancient resident of the mystic East, where it must have known intimately the beginnings of some of the oldest races. It is most successful as a back-yard tree in dense cities, being often the first tree that millions of children, herded in towns and cities, see. In the dense centers of population it shares starved back yards of tenements with the clothesline trees and is called by children "the stink-weed tree." Flowering in early summer, the staminate flowers are very evil-smelling.

Barbering Youngest Art, Oldest of Professions

Barbering is the oldest of the professions and the youngest of the arts, says a correspondent in the Modern Thinker. It has seen many vicissitudes. It was indirectly controlled by church and state long before it fell into the hands of the more whimsical decree of fashion, or conflicted in any way with the laws of sanitation.

It was an ancient craft before union shops were thought of, and in some Oriental countries the barber still plies his trade by the roadside, or wherever it is convenient for his patrons to sit.

Barbers were our first surgeons, first dentists and the first to make a practical application of the science of orology. Combined with these duties, the barber was also a specialist in phlebotomy (the operation of blood-letting), and when under Henry VIII the Company of Barbers was incorporated with the Company of Surgeons, the barbers were still permitted to draw teeth and to let blood, while the surgeons were forbidden to do any "barbering."

Cucumber Tree Hardest of the Magnolia Family

The cucumber tree is the hardest magnolia native to eastern North America. In appearance it suggests a tropical tree for its leaves and flowers are large. It is found from western New York to Illinois, Georgia and Arkansas.

A rich, moist woods, with abundant sunlight is its favorite home. Good wood, rapid growth, few foes are among its principal merits. It is a beautiful tree for lawns and parks. The leaves are simple, thin, egg-shaped, four to twelve inches long, pointed at apex, smooth along margin. They fall in response to first frost.

The flowers are large, upright, solitary, bell-shaped, about three inches long, greenish, tinged with yellow, difficult to see among foliage. The fruit is a red cucumber-like mass, two or three inches long, containing scarlet, pea-size seeds, suspended by long, slender white threads at maturity. The bark is grayish to brown, and breaks up into long furrows. The twigs are smooth, shiny, bitter, rather stout, brown, marked with crescent-shaped leaf-scars. The buds are conical, sharp-pointed, about one-half of an inch long, and pale silvery. The wood is soft, weak, brittle, and light yellowish to reddish-brown in color.
